

ain shams university: established in 1950 ain shams university is a nonprofit public higher education institution located in the large metropolis of Cairo population range of over 5 000 000 inhabitants officially recognized by the Ministry of Higher Education of Egypt ain shams university ASU is a large coeducational Egyptian higher education institution ain shams university ASU offers courses and programs leading to officially recognized higher education degrees such as bachelor degrees master degrees doctorate degrees in several areas of study ASU also provides several academic and nonacademic facilities and services to students including a library as well as administrative services research centers availability: no number of students: 201 405 number of staff: 20 000

gender: mixed

rating: 340

type: public

faculty of law at ain shams university: the faculty of law at ain shams university was established in the year 1950 and opened its doors to receive students of the first division in the academic year 1950/1951 whose number reached 1276 then these students moved to the higher class as soon as this class graduated in the year 1953/1954 the demand for the college increased as the number of its students in the year 1953/1954 reached 6429 students thus it has become a major share in the field of law study the members of the faculty were chosen at its establishment from among the faculty members at the University of Cairo and Alexandria and their number at that time was eleven members then this number increased until it reached in the year 1999/2000 eighty-nine and in the year 2010/2011 113 members faculty of arts at ain shams university: its nucleus was the literary section of the Higher Institute for Teachers and it was located in Shubra then it was transferred to the College of Arts after its comprehensive development then it moved to its current building in Safton and bachelor's degrees postgraduate diplomas and master's and doctoral degrees the college is the first college in Egypt that established an independent department for Eastern languages to study the BA and beyond in the Islamic and Semitic Oriental languages and literature it was also the first college to establish psychological and social studies on a modern basis faculty of science at ain shams university: the faculty of science was established by the issuance of a royal decree in July 1950 as part of Ibrahim Pasha Alkabeer University in Cairo and in 1954 the name was changed to Heliopolis University and in September of the same year the name was changed to Ain Shams University and the study began at the College of Science in the Orman area of Giza Governorate where some of the teachers institute students were registered in the new college at that time to represent the first nucleus of the college and in 1951 the college of science was moved to the area surrounding the current historical Saffron Palace and the first batch was to obtain a bachelor of science degree in the year 1953 foundational studies were established in the college of science in seven departments namely pure mathematics and applied mathematics chemistry physics geology botany zoology and in 1956 the department of entomology was established and in 1959 the department of biochemistry was established and in 1983 the departments of pure mathematics and applied mathematics were included in the mathematics department then the departments of geophysics and microbiology were established in 1993 bringing the number to ten scientific departments mathematics department physics department chemistry department geology department botany department department zoology department of entomology department of biochemistry department of geophysics department of microbiology and the student graduates in the college either in one major single or two majors double the colleges bylaw has been developed where the study has been applied in the credit hour system to include new specializations in the different departments at the present time the college has a number of new programs with fees to obtain a bachelors degree in applied specializations to keep pace with the need of the labor market which are programs of petroleum geophysics applied biotechnology nano science and materials applied and analytical microbiology faculty of women at ain shams university: faculty of women for arts sciences and education is an edifice unique to ain shams university as it combines the disciplines of arts and sciences education primary education childhood studies and home economics its the first for the girls in egypt faculty dates back to the academic year 1933/1934 where the higher education institute for female teachers was established which was annexed in 1950 to ain shams university with the issuance of the universities' organization in 1956 and the institute was changed to faculty of women in 1994 the supreme council of universities issued a decision that called the college of girls to be faculty of women for literature science and education faculty of women for arts sciences and education since its inception has been based on a clear philosophy vision a scientific issue a medical issue with a civilized dimension and whoever considers opening the space for the student to obtain a distinguished academic education in addition to fully practicing sports social and cultural activities and a conscious start the credit for establishing the college and laying its foundations goes back to the first generation beginning with prof dr asmaa fahmy and passing through to the professors deans of the college who contributed to the completion of the colleges development in order to achieve a civilizational renaissance faculty of computer and information sciences at ain shams university: established by republican decree no 419 of 1995 and the study began in september 1996 the college of computers and information awards a bachelors degree in computer systems scientific computations bio informatics software engineering artificial intelligence digital multimedia and cybersecurity this is in addition to the presence of many interdisciplinary disciplines as the study in the departments of computer science information systems computer systems and scientific computations constitute academic tracks that engage within the broad path of information science faculty of education at ain shams university: in 1929 the institute of higher education for teachers was established with the aim of preparing teachers for public education schools and working for the institute to be a center for scientific research in matters of education and psychological study of children and to be a tool for disseminating modern ideas about education among educators in september 1956 and a special law was issued to organize egyptian universities then in the same month a presidential decree was issued stating the college of education should be one of the colleges affiliated with ain shams university at the end of 1970 and the teachers college was included in the college of education ain shams university and similar to that most of the faculties of education were established in egypt it is worth noting that the college of education emerged as an institution specializing in teacher preparation since that time the colleges tasks have been identified in preparing and qualifying students to practice the teaching profession for the high school campaign the integrated system for university graduates and those of their level the consecutive system and for preparing specialists and leaders in various aspects of this profession with attention to conducting scientific research on issues education and publishing the results of that research in addition to the renewal of thought and the promotion of culture and the college of education now consists of 17 departments faculty of engineering at ain shams university: faculty of engineering was established with the establishment of the university in 1950 by transforming the higher institute of engineering into a college and is working on preparing a graduate who is able to keep pace with technological development in various disciplines to meet the needs of the local and regional market faculty of dentistry at ain shams university: the study began at faculty of dentistry in 1995 the faculty is committed to preparing a dentist committed to human values and professional ethics with high cognitive and professional skills capable of local and regional competition and for the college to have a leading role in clinical and academic scientific research and to provide a community service that meets national needs faculty of pharmacy at ain shams university: the study began at the faculty of pharmacy at ain shams university in 1995 the college adopts innovation and qualifies pharmacists with professional skills and ethical values by providing competency-based educational programs to enhance competition in the labor market scientific research and community service faculty of medicine at ain shams university: ain shams college of medicine was established in 1947 and was affiliated with cairo university then it moved to ain shams university upon its founding in 1950 the faculty prepares a trained doctor with competitive skill at the local and regional level able to teach learn and train for life and is committed to the standards of medical service and ethics the faculty supports the continuous development of programs and courses and scientific research while keen to expand applied scientific research and health care programs to serve the needs of society and develop the environment faculty of archaeology at ain shams university: the study began in the school year 2021/2022 following the transformation of the institute of higher studies of the bardian engraving and renovation arts into the faculty of archaeology of the university of ain shams the purpose of which is to prepare a distinguished archaeology graduate capable of working at archaeological sites and museums of various ages in order to study maintain and preserve them through scientific research and support international research projects and partnerships that contribute to the achievement of scientific excellence in egypt and its regional and international surroundings in order to serve society and preserve its values institute of agricultural research in arid lands at ain shams university: institute of agricultural research in arid lands seeks to become a pioneering and recognized model for higher technological education at the local regional and global levels through the distinction of its educational and research outputs community services and its role in development in the fields of seeking to achieve a comprehensive economic and social renaissance based on knowledge for a dynamic agricultural sector capable of sustainable rapid growth and serving the purposes of scientific research training and development locally regionally and globally in arid regions faculty of specific education at ain shams university: established in 1988 as an educational research and governmental service institution to prepare a teacher specialist and researcher in general and special needs specialties through educational academic professional and ethical qualification in accordance with national standards to ensure the ability to innovate creativity competition and improve the quality of scientific research in a way that serves the qualitative disciplines and the knowledge society institute for environmental studies and research at ain shams university: institute for environmental studies and research was established in 1982 with the aim of studying and researching environmental problems of a local regional and global nature through studies and scientific and applied environmental research and preparing specialized research and professional cadres qualified to meet the need for environmental work and community service and work on developing and sustaining resources and building partnerships with various institutions concerned with scientific research faculty of graduate studies for childhood at ain shams university: it was established in 1982 and is the only one on the arab level for this specialization faculty of graduate studies for childhood is committed to providing educational and training programs in accordance with the standards of quality and accreditation to prepare skilled ethical and specialized cadres in the medical psychological and media fields for children to advance scientific

Faculty of Agriculture at Ain Shams University: it started as an agricultural institute in 1942 in Shebin Alkhayma and was annexed to the university in 1950 and moved to its current location in Shubra El-Khaimah. The faculty includes 15 departments and seeks to become one of the distinguished and recognized academic institutions at the regional level in the fields of agricultural sciences, educational research, and social development to face current and future challenges with continuous development and sustainable development.

Faculty of Nursing at Ain Shams University: it was established as a higher institute of nursing at Ain Shams University in 1980 and in 2000 it was transformed into a faculty of nursing. The faculty strives to maintain excellence in academic nursing education at the local level and to reach regional and global distinction. It aims to prepare distinguished nursing cadres scientifically, skillfully, and administratively who are able to provide comprehensive nursing care to the individual, family, society, and effective competition in the local and regional labor market through distinguished programs and to create an educational and research environment that contributes to the development of the nursing profession, community service, and environmental development.

Faculty of Business at Ain Shams University: the college of commerce was established in 1950. The study at the faculty of business is in three languages: Arabic, English, and French, and it grants a Bachelor's degree in business administration and accounting.

Contact information for Ain Shams University: address: El-Khalyfa El-Mamoun Street, Abbasya, Cairo, Egypt; contact numbers: 0226831231; email: info@ainshams.edu.eg; website: <http://www.asu.edu.eg/>; facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/ainshamsuniversityportalofficialpage>; twitter: https://twitter.com/ainshams_univ; linkedin: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/ainshams-univ>; youtube: <https://www.youtube.com/channel/ucrkapgas9-swavpxnwonirq>; instagram: https://www.instagram.com/ainshams_univ/; map_src: <https://www.google.com/maps/embed?pb=!1m14!1m8!1m3!1d13792.1975272766!2d31.4475185!3d30.207138!3m2!1i1024!2i768!4f13.1!3m3!1m2!1s0x0%3a0x61a1e5a21354321a!2sain%20shams%20university!5e0!3m2!1sen!2seg!4v1639652283528!5m2!1sen!2seg>